PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

2010

Monitoring the misuse of public property

According to a report by the Transparency International Sri Lanka (TISL), the Presidential Election of 2010 was marred by widespread misconduct. The report highlighted the use of public resources for campaign purposes, which included the use of state assets for political gain.

Misuse of public property

A major campaign strategy involved the misuse of public property. This was carried out through the use of government buildings and vehicles for campaign purposes, resulting in a significant drain on public resources.

VITALITY IN FOREIGN EMPLOYMENT EXAMINED

In a report on “Vitality in Foreign Employment” published in 2010, TISL highlighted the importance of supporting workers overseas.

SPECIAL MENTION

"It was a remarkable experience," said Roshani Ekanayake, a TISL employee who received the award. "I feel proud to be part of such an organization that recognizes and rewards the efforts of its employees."