Citizen’s Handbook well accepted

TI S L recently released a Citizen’s Handbook detailing the services provided by District Secretariats. The handbook is distributed to all government offices and educational institutions.

The handbook includes a description of how to obtain government services through the Department of British Mission and the Department of Public Administration. It also includes the contact details of the relevant government offices.

The handbook is available in both Sinhala and English and is published by Transparency International Sri Lanka (TISL).

Uva Radio Makes Headway on Right to Information

The radio programming is broadcast in Uva Province under the aegis of Transparency International Sri Lanka (TISL). The programming is a part of the National Campaign for Right to Information in Uva Province.

According to Uva Radio, the radio is currently conducting awareness programs on the right to information and is working to raise awareness in the Uva Province.

Public participation ignored in local administration

Although there is a provision under the Right to Information Act for public participation in the decision-making process, this has not been used to its fullest extent. The public has not been actively involved in decision-making processes.

National Integrity Award 2010: Solemn ceremony awards Customs officer posthumously recognized

• Mausam wins Special Mention
• National Integrity Award

Solemn ceremony for Poddala Jayantha

The National Integrity Award was presented to Poddala Jayantha, a former customs officer, by Transparency International Sri Lanka (TISL) in recognition of his contributions to the fight against corruption.

The ceremony was held in Colombo and was attended by various government officials and civil society organizations.

Colleague says Sujith ‘arguably the best investigating officer’

Sujith had a passion for law enforcement and was a dedicated officer. He was known for his intelligence and ability to handle complex cases. His colleagues praised him for his investigative skills and dedication.

Today’s challenges

Today’s challenges are related to the need for transparency and accountability in public services. The challenges include the need for improved access to information, the need for independent media, and the need to combat corruption.

Increasing awareness on need to combat corruption

People in rural Sri Lanka are increasingly becoming conscious of the need for corruption and are ready to stand up for their rights.

The TISL Radio programme, "Voice of the People", is working to raise awareness on the need to combat corruption. The programme is broadcast in various parts of the country and is aimed at educating the public on the importance of transparency and accountability.

TI S L helps flood victims

The organization has been active in providing relief to flood victims in various parts of the country. They have provided food, shelter, and medical assistance to those affected by the floods.

History of TISL

The organization was founded in 1992 by a group of journalists and civil society activists. It was established to promote transparency and accountability in public services.

Join us

If you would like to know more about TISL and how you can get involved, you can contact us at TISL@tisrilanka.org or visit our website at www.tisrilanka.org.